THE AVENGER STORY

Comprehensive and engrossing, the USS Bowfin Submarine Museum and Park provides invaluable insight into the determination of the United States—and in particular, its submarine fleet—to turn a day of defeat into a resounding victory.

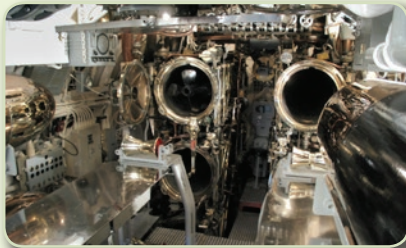

Tour a real WW II submarine

Launched into service exactly one year after the infamous December 7, 1941 attack on Pearl Harbor, the USS Bowfin measures 312 feet long. Nicknamed “The Pearl Harbor Avenger,” the submarine embarked upon nine war patrols during World War II.

Learn about submarine warfare

Armed with an array of guns and up to 24 torpedoes at one time, the Bowfin engaged in a “silent service” designed to take the war to the enemy. The vessel sank 44 ships during her commission.

Experience life in a narrow metal tube beneath the sea

Admission includes a free self-guided, narrated tour below decks where you can feel how compact life was for up to 80 submariners operating this war vessel. Stand at battle stations in the forward and aft torpedo compartments, in her control, engine rooms and more.

Tour The Pacific Submarine Museum

This self-guided, narrated tour covers the entire history of submarine warfare from the first attempts in 1776, through WWI and WWII to today's nuclear submarines.

“The entire history of submarine warfare, all in one place!”
