Summary Narrative of Nomination

Army Veteran, John Henry Felix, Ph.D., is an outstanding citizen who personifies servant leadership and civic responsibility. His distinguished career in government, business, education, diplomacy, community service, philanthropy, and humanitarian service span half a century.

Dr. Felix's life of civil service has been grounded by his guiding principles of integrity and honesty; and by his core values of loyalty, pride, and commitment: He served as Chief of Staff to the first Governor of the State of Hawaii. President Reagan appointed him U.S. Representative to the South Pacific Commission. He has chaired more than a dozen state and county boards and commissions and served for 16 years on the Honolulu City Council. A Menlo College alumnus ('49), he holds two Oxford M.A. degrees (Harris Manchester College). At Oxford, he is Fellow, Vice President, a member of Congregation and the Chancellor's Court, and is a Life Member of the Oxford Union. As an Eagle Scout, he has headed the Salk Institute for Biological Studies, Red Cross (internationally, nationally and locally), Boy Scouts' Aloha Council, March of Dimes (nationally and locally), Consular Corps of Hawaii, Hawaii Public Radio (founder), Young Presidents Organization, Civil Air Patrol (Hawaii Wing Commander), Junior Achievement, and Academy of the Pacific; he is currently Chair-CEO of Abilities Unlimited (non-profit organization building inclusive communities that empower individuals with disabilities); the individual and sum of his public service contributions have made a substantial and positive impact on society. Dr. Felix holds a Doctorate in Public Policy and Administration, and has written six books, as well as numerous articles on governance and volunteer development

For the last 80 years, John Henry Felix has devoted himself to sustained and selfless voluntary service which consistently put citizens first through his confident, engaging, and inclusive, approach. Testimony to this occurred when David Y. Ige, Governor of the State of Hawai'i, and Joshua B. Green, Lieutenant Governor; proclaimed November 14, 2019 as "JOHN HENRY FELIX DAY" in recognition of his passion and commitment to making a difference in the community.

Dr. Felix is the only American honored with the highest honors from both the American Red Cross and International Red Cross — The Harriman Award for Distinguished Volunteer Service and The Henry Dunant Medal for Outstanding Humanitarian Service, respectively. This historic achievement was captured by President Ronald Reagan when he wrote to John Henry Felix in October of 1983, upon receiving the International Red Cross Medal of Honor – "You exemplify the true spirit of volunteerism for humanitarian aid to your fellow man."

Born on June 14, 1930, John Henry Felix's life of service embodies the virtue of public service and social responsibility. He is truly a global citizen who has enriched the lives of others and is steadfast at making this world a better place.

In all of his refugee assignments in Africa, Timor, and South East Asia, John Henry was especially concerned about the care of orphans. He set up special facilities for them and personally directed their care - often feeding them and consoling them at the end of a grueling day. John Henry was constantly harassed and "detained" by rebel forces in Mozambique, Angola, and Timor; by the Viet Cong in Vietnam, and the Khmer Rouge in Cambodia and Laos.

While working as a Red Cross Delegate in remote parts of the Pacific, he devised the "Walking Blood Donor Program" because of the scarcity of proper refrigeration and storage. He recruited potential donors, had them properly registered with their contact information, and tested for blood type. Calls for donors by name could be made by radio stations, "coconut wireless" and two-way radios. This was before cell phones. The Governor of Guam was so impressed with this program he made John Henry Felix a member of the prestigious Order of the Ancient Chamorro.
